SERVICE HISTORY	Full History

The factory modifications required to earn an M3 a CSL badge are legion. Alongside that engine and all the carbon fibre comes revised suspension, modified brakes, quicker steering and a paddle-operated gearbox capable of swapping one cog for another in 0.08sec or, to put it another way, three times faster than you. Inside, racing seats ensure your body can withstand 1.5G of lateral acceleration without depositing you on your passenger.

The CSL is one of the most hard-core supercars ever sold. Various buttons allow you to choose the speed of the gear change, sharpen the throttle response, disable the stability control or programme it for the race track. Like many things that are bad for you, the CSL is addictive — it possesses a focus that, of its ilk, only Porsche's more expensive GT3 would recognise. Its non-negotiable demand for your undivided attention can make every departure an occasion, every journey an adventure, every arrival an event. It's also rare, beautiful and FANTASTICALLY engineered.

This particular M3 CSL is very well known to us at Classic Heroes having passed through our workshop in the hands of the last two owners. The current owner purchased this CSL for his collection from us and during that time has covered only 1,200 miles. His standards are exceptionally high and many, many CSLs of varying mileages were inspected before one was found that met his criteria. The simply stunning cosmetic condition and the superbly documented history made this the car for him. The CSL is a credit to the previous owners and the history file backs this up. Retirement and a move to a new home in Scotland means it is now time for this superb CSL to find a new home.
